NFCCS Plans For Summer Trip To Europe

Something New Has Been Added

New faculty members, snapped at their first meeting of the year in the library last week. Left to right, front, Mr. Spencer, Fr. Mayo, Father Lyons, Fr. Dupont, Fr. Faustina; rear, Mr. Fortune, Mr. Naramore, Mr. Herbert, Mr. Sullivan, Mr. McLaughlin, Mr. Billups, Mr. Delaney and Mr. Woloszyn. Mr. George was not present.

REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE TEN NEW TEACHERS HERE

To help handle the increased enrollment and to reduce the class load, St. Michael's has added 10 new teachers this semester, bringing the total to 66. Two assistants have also been added to the library staff, according to Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, academic dean.

Two of the new instructors were honor graduates from St. Michael's in the June class: Robert Billups of Winooski, who becomes an instructor in physics, and Donald Delaney of Cadyville, N.Y., who becomes an instructor in biology.

Others added to the staff follow:

Rev. John M. Faustina, S.S.E., who got his A.B. at St. Michael's and who has been teaching at St. Edmund's Junior Seminary. He will be an instructor in classics.

George Fortune of Shelburne, Vt., who after getting his bachelor's degree from St. Michael's, won a master's degree from the University of Vermont. He will instruct in business administration.

Joseph George of Boston, who has his bachelor's and master's degrees from Boston College, will instruct in English.

Robert A. Hebert of Burlington, who has an A.B. from St. Michael's and a M.Ed. from Harvard, with additional work at the University of Pennsylvania and in private business. He will be assistant professor of education and guidance director.

James J. McLaughlin of Greensburg, Pa., a graduate of Notre Dame, will instruct in business administration.

Vincent Naramore of Fair Haven, Vt., who is a Phi Beta Kappa student from Syracuse University, will instruct in mathematics.

Robert C. Spencer of Jericho, Vt., who has his bachelor's degree from the University of Chicago and additional study at the University of Miami, Xavier University, Johnson State Teachers College, who will instruct in sociology.

Andrew Woloszyn, of Windsor, Ont., who has his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Toledo and his doctor's work at New York University and Columbia University, assistant professor of Economics.

In the library, Father Maloney will have the help of two others who have their B.L.S. degrees: Joseph Sullivan of Cazenovia, N.Y., who has degrees from Fordham and Syracuse University; and Rev. Earl Mayo, S.S.E., who has his degrees from St. Michael's and McGill University.

Fr. Lyons Opens School Year

The concept of the brotherhood of man has been distorted and twisted by many because they have left out the fatherhood of God, the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, S.S.E., president of St. Michael's College, declared last Wednesday, Sept. 21, at the Mass of the Holy Ghost.

Speaking to 800 upperclassmen at the Mass which began the 46th school year, Fr. Lyons called such persons, "spiritual orphans, lost in a confused world."

"It is natural, in a world of changes," Fr. Lyons said, "that man should turn to religion, because it is only in religion that he is able to find something that does not change, something real and permanent to tie to so that his life may have a sense of direction and purpose."

"Other remedies have been suggested, tried and found wanting. Men are beginning to realize that if the world is to be made safe for democracy, if it is to be saved from the mad destructiveness that characterizes the godless regime of Russia, it will be saved only through the shaping of such men as you, with steady hands and sturdy hearts, ready to exemplify in their lives what they profess in words.

NFCCS LEADER SPEAKS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

The OSP division of the NFCCS will kick off its campus campaign tomorrow (Sun.) when Pat Cotter speaks here at St. Michael's.

Translated into English, these initials mean that the Overseas Program of the National Federation of Catholic students will be explained to Michaelmen by Cotter, a Cansius student who is one of the heads of the Program.

One of the features of the OSP is the opportunity it gives students for travel in Europe with amazingly economical summer trips.

Cotter's talk, which is tentatively scheduled for 7 p.m., in Austin Hall will touch on the three phases of the new program:

1. The foreign relief program, to aid European students.
2. A new program for bringing DP students to US colleges.
3. A summer pilgrimage to Rome this year.

The National Organization, (NFCCS) is a student organization which aims to develop competent Catholic lay leaders as opposed to the present type Catholic leader a la Curley, Hague et al.

The OSP intends to develop this lay leadership through the methods outlined above.

St. Michael's in recent years has been playing an increasingly prominent part in affairs of the NFCCS.

At present, MICHAELMEN hold three top spots in the student organization. Frank Merrigan, a St. Michael's senior, is president of the 19 school New England Region, Walt Coon is director of this same New England Region for the OSP program and Clem Ferris, is National Treasurer for the organization.

Ferris, New England Treasurer in 1947, was elected last June at a convention held in Chicago of the delegates from the more than 250 Catholic colleges which participate in the NFCCS.

Most Campus Jobs Given Non-Vets

The MICHAELMAN this week made inquiry into the college employment policy, and the employment bureau's attitude toward veterans in regard to employment. Father DuPont generously cooperated in summarizing the facts as to the position of the bureau and some of its operating procedure.

There are approximately five applications to be judged for each dining hall position. This necessarily means everyone can't be placed.

As to the veterans status, the board feels that veterans should be able to at least meet the minimum financial drain of their education without difficulty. The G.I. Bill gives entitlement running around $6,000. For that reason, the board can not sympathize with veterans receiving G.I. benefits. A married veteran may be in circumstances which may change the board's opinion.

Jobs are given to those whom the committee judge as in most need. Preference is given to upperclassmen. Scholastic standings must be maintained. When applications are judged as even, the position is given to the application filed first.

Father admits the committee may make a mistake now and then as to the need of a student. But an investigating bureau can't be maintained to probe each applicant as to individual need.

FROSH SKIT UNCOVERS MANY HIDDEN TALENTS

One of the highlights of Freshman Week was the Skit Night arranged by the Student Activities Council.

Climaxing a week of entertainment conducted to introduce the new Freshmen to St. Michael's College, the evening was an informal one intended to give the Freshmen a chance to bare their hidden talents.

The night opened with a skit sponsored by upperclassmen who were on hand for Freshman Week. The now famous hero of the act was none other than "Ballantine Shlitz," better known as Don Walsh to his fellow collegians. The skit was written by Jack Cronin and had as its satirical victims Father Dube and Father D'Agostino. This was followed by thirteen acts put on by the Frosh.

Tom Gero, from Rutland, Vermont, was judged the first place winner. This was no surprise as Gero's modern dance interpretations of the 'Birth of the Blues' gave the audience something to marvel at. In his dance he represented the five stages of life: Birth, Infancy, Adolescence, Adulthood, and Death. He is by no means new to this particular type of entertainment as he has studied at a school affiliated with Ted Shawn and Martha Graham, leading virtuosas of modern interpretive dancing.

Second prize was captured by Gene Morrin of Farnumsville, Mass., with his accordion selections, and third prize was awarded to Vianney Ferland of Morrisville, Vermont, by merit of his fine renditions of French songs.

Although he won no prize, special mention must also be given to Kevin Loughlin for his version of "Ghost Riders in the Sky," on the mouth organ. This skit was especially heavily applauded.

Sunday Collection Under New System

"Thank you Michaelmen and members of the Mission Crusade for your generous response to the missions both spiritually and materially," was the essence of the informal talk given to members of the student body at a gathering in Austin Hall last Sunday night by Rev. Normand A. Lambert SSE, director of mission work conducted by the Society of St. Edmund in the South.

Following his talk Father showed movies displaying the tremendous work that has been accomplished for the poor of the South that was made possible through the generous cooperation of those interested in furthering the education and spiritual life of the needy.

With the approval of Very Rev. Daniel Lyons, SSE, president of St. Michael's, the Mission Crusade has launched a new fund-raising project in support of the Southern Missions.

Last year special collections were taken on Advent and

For 'Vandals' Only

Before letting the recent painting adventure fade from sight there are a few words which should be written about it.

For some time the four colleges in Vermont have been striving to promote a better feeling of cooperation, friendliness and understanding among themselves. Student leaders of these schools have established annual dinner-meetings, as a step toward these goals. At these affairs they have discussed the ways and means to bring about closer harmony between their colleges. One of the most outstanding problems to be discussed has been the outdated displays of vandalism on the part of some students in each college.

Vandalism comes from the tribal name of the Vandals who sacked Rome in 455. It has come to mean any action which willfully destroys or mars anything. At one time it was 'the thing' among college students to 'visit' a traditionally rival campus and perform not always mild acts of havoc. Fortunately, today's collegian is thinking along a higher level than in the past, and this form of 'school spirit' is going into the closet along with raccoon coats and hip-flasks. Today's student realizes that orderly pep rallies, large turnouts for games and so on are more true displays of school spirit, and much more effective.

It's all done with now so it can be chalked up to experience. Let's all pull together from now on to maintain the spirit of friendship between St. Michael's and U.V.M.

From the Editor

There seems to be some confusion regarding the relative geography of the MICHAELMAN office and the Public Relations office.

The Public Relations office is on the first floor of Old Hall. The MICHAELMAN office is on the second floor of Aquinas Hall.

Any letters to the editor, hot tips or news items of births, deaths, marriages, earthquakes or floods should be brought to the MICHAELMAN office. Just give them to the editor, the fellow with his feet on the desk and his head in the clouds.

In case the editor isn't there, two courses are open.

1. Give the article to any one of the alert reporters of the MICHAELMAN who lounge around the office pretending they have something to do.

2. Leave a note, with explanations as to how the MICHAELMAN can track down the story.

Mr. Donoghue, the director of Public Relations is also the MICHAELMAN'S moderator. He is always willing to help the MICHAELMAN out. But items given to Mr. Donoghue have a way of disappearing into the forest primeval of his desk drawers.

In this case the article usually appears in the April 23 edition 1956.

MERLE TETRAULT SWANTON, VT.
" They should go all the way after what I saw Sat."

RAY DEFORGE SOUTH HADLEY FALLS, MASS.
" After last week's game they should be tops with a clean slate."

GERRY FINN SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
" For my money I don't think that anyone will lay a finger on them this year!"

PERCY DIGNAN SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
" As long as St. Mike's beats AIC, the season will be a perfect one for me!"

JOHN GILFEATHER SALEM, N.Y.
" The chances for a winning season are very good."

BILL KEOGH BURLINGTON, VT.
" I'll be optimistic and say that they will lose only one game!"

JULIUS MOEYKENS NEWPORT, VT.
" I believe they are in top shape and with the help of God will have a fine season."

JOHN LYONS PITTSFIELD, MASS.
" If they follow the motto - a team that won't be beaten, can't be beaten, - they will enjoy a great season."

Glee Club

Prof. Burke, faculty moderator of the St. Michael's Glee Club, has announced that the organization is anxious to swell its ranks. Any students who like to sing, are invited to the next meeting Tuesday night at 6:30 in Austin Hall.

The club has a heavy schedule this year and an early start is desired.

The Glee Club meets every Tuesday at 6:30 and every Thursday at 7:45.

Here we are back at St. Mike's for another year of looking into sports topics on the Hill. The faithful readers who stick around that long, will discover that very often we stray from the Hill for our topics, but as a rule there is enough going on here at St. Michael's to kick around two or three hundred words worth. Just to show our versatility, one time last year we gave a long-winded essay on how to influence people at a ski-lodge. You don't think we were hard up for something to write that week? Nevertheless, bear with us friends and let's see how much dirty water we can wring out of the wash with this edition.

SUPPOSING!!!

The Vermont game has been covered by yards of print, but just for the sake of supposing, we wonder what would have happened if that Jack Daly runback of a punt to the Vermont 15 hadn't been nullified by a clipping penalty. The Knights were hot at the time, and another six points would just about have put the game at the bottom of the deep-freeze. It was just a bad break, but like Doc said, let's look ahead, not behind. The squad has a tough schedule in front of them, but the way they looked last week, all the Purple opponents will know at the end of their game that they have been in one.

Special praise should be given Jack Daly for the way he performed against Vermont. We have been watching Jack play bang-up ball for four years now, but he never looked as good as he did last Saturday. Due, no doubt, to the fact that he is getting plenty of blocking this year. All he needs is to get shook loose, and then watch the kid go. All this despite the fact that Jack plays against men who actually weigh twice as much as he does. Duke Nelson, coach of Middlebury who watched the game from in front of the press-box last week, raved about Jack all afternoon long. And when the Duke raves about a man, you can be sure that man has it. If what the Middlebury coach was saying all afternoon about Jack Daly was contracted into one word, that word would be -- guts ---.

LAST YEAR'S PREDICTIONS

Our last spring's pennant picks have gone kinda sour, or just in case you oldies forgot, we had Cleveland and Brooklyn in first place come season's end. The Dodgers still have a fighting chance at this writing, but as far as the Indians are concerned, they all ought to climb the pole that guy came off of a few days back. With that, I think I'll climb into the rack for about a ten hour nap, and we will see you next week with what we all hope will be better news about the Purple gridsters.

Vermont Rally Edges SMC After Early Purple Lead

by TONY CAULEY

Before a packed house of some eight-thousand howling fans last Saturday afternoon, the University of Vermont came through in the last four minutes of play to edge the fighting Knights 7-6 in the curtain-raiser of the 1949 football season.

For fifty-six minutes of play, the Knights had things pretty much their own way, but at that point the two K's of Vermont, Kehoe and Keefer caught fire and pulled the game out for the Green and Gold.

The game was off to a fast start with Jack Daly taking the opening kickoff on his own 7 yard line and returning it two yards short of the mid-field stripe. From there St. Mike's went 52 yards in 14 plays to draw first blood and rack up its only score of the day. Eddie Krupinsky started things rolling by hitting Ted Morris with a snap pass good for a first down on the Vermont 43. Jack Heggarty picked up 12 yards in two tries for another first on the Green and Gold 31. Three more rushes at the Vermont line netted another 13 for a first down on the 18.

The Vermont line at this point got tough, and three line plays picked up only a yard apiece. But Krupinsky clicked again to Morris and when the dust cleared, the ball rested on the Vermont 4. After three attempts to crack the Vermont line, Jack Heggarty went off his own left tackle for six points. Artie Coggio attempted the drop-kick, but he was rushed and the kick went wild.

The Cats threatened shortly after this when they moved straight downfield to the St. Michael's 14, where they had a first down. After two no-gain thrusts at the hard charging Knights' forward wall, Art Collier tried a jump pass only to have Dick Klaess pull it in to end the threat.

VERMONT SCORES

From that point to the fatal last four minutes, the game was played for the most part between the 20 yard stripes. In that last quarter, after a few bad breaks and a fumble, St. Mike's kicked from its 14, with George McDonald returning the ball fifteen yards to the Purple 35. In two pass plays, Kehoe to Ursprung and Kehoe to Keefer, the inspired Catamounts pushed to the Purple 4. After two plays, including one attempted jump-pass, Keefer sliced over his own right tackle for the score. Stan Ursprung added the game winning point, and for the first time in about 51 minutes, Fuzzy Evans' heart took a beat.

Rain Fazes Rally

by RICHARD CARPINO

The driving rain of Friday evening, September 23, little dampened the fiery spirit of the men at the beat - U V M rally. About 250 Mikemen met at Austin Hall at eight o' clock on the eve of the biggest grid game of the season.

Gus Contant, Bill Kenney, and Bill Heenehan were the men who planned the rally.

The cheerleaders led by Jack Burke and accompanied by Bill Wannamaker's band had full command of the rally-making from the stage of Austin Hall.

Although no members of the football team were present, the students did hear addresses by Fr. Stankiewicz and Fr. Poirier.

The true spirit of sportsmanship was highly stressed by the short talks of the two Fathers.

An effigy representative of UVM was strung up at Austin Hall during the rally. As the rally group left Austin Hall the dummy was cut down and carried at the head of the marching student column to the raging bonfire in the rear of the college.

At the bonfire, which was encircled by Mikemen, Gus Contant and Bill Kenney midst cheers of "Beat UVM," hurled the dummy into the soaring twenty-foot flames.

A snake dance emerged from the bonfire site, and twisted through all the dorms, rocking the foundations with yells and cheers.

Hofstra Coach Fears SMC In Game Today

In prime condition and raring to go, the Purple Knights football forces will be in Hempstead, Long Island, this afternoon (Saturday) to take on the Flying Dutchmen of Hofstra College. The game will inaugurate the Dutchmen's season and the Knights will probably be slight favorites to chalk up a victory.

The Dutchmen will be in good shape after two weeks at their training camp at Croton Point, N.Y., and will be out to start the season off with a victory. Hofstra wasn't too successful on the gridiron last season, dropping six games and tieing two. This year they are loaded with sophomore talent up from last year's frosh that compiled a good record on the gridiron. Many of these Sophs were good enough to earn All-Scholastic rating on Long Island in their high school days but as yet are untested in college ball.

SAME LINEUP

The Knights will probably take the field with the same lineup that started last week's game against arch rival UVM and for the second time they will probably be outweighed in the line as the Dutchmen have quite a few men in the forward wall that weigh in at 200 pounds or better. Their backfield received a serious jolt this week when the two men battling it out for the starting fullback job were injured in a scrimmage with the Hofstra frosh. Walt Peterson and Wally Kohanowich, both all-scholastics from Hempstead High School were counted on for heavy duty but both will probably be limited to spot roles in this game.

Head Coach Jack Smith of the Dutchmen scouted the Knights last week in the Vermont game. When he returned to Hempstead he told the press that the Dutchmen would have their work cut out for them Saturday and that it was the roughest opening game assignment in Hofstra football history.

Veterans who have completed or discontinued courses of G.I. Bill training, and who now wish to take additional education or training at Government expense, must first show Veterans Administration that their new course is not avocational or recreational, but is essential to their employment objective.

G.I. Bill training sought by a veteran after he has completed or discontinued a previous course, will be considered avocational or recreational -- regardless of the nature of the training -- unless the veteran submits complete justification that the course "is essential to his employment."

The Veterans Administration is making every effort to avoid delays in the plans to pay the National Service Life Insurance special dividend beginning early next year, and has asked veterans to stop sending in duplicate applications because the first ones sent in may have lacked sufficient information.

" If the applicant's name, address or signature were properly entered on the original application, and it may be assumed that most veterans certainly gave that information correctly, VA probably will be able to fill in the balance of the information from its records," Manager Charles L. Jacobs, of the Vermont Center of the Veterans Administration, stated.

The announcement of the formula of computing the special dividend to be paid by the Veterans Administration to all policy-holders and former policy-holders of National Service Life Insurance has brought about a number of requests from veterans requesting information as to the number of months their policies have been in force.

" Local offices of the Veterans Administration are not able to answer such questions, because all NSLI records are in Washington and in certain widely separated key points in the country

Most veterans can estimate the number of months their policies have been in force. Others who are not sure of this information may be certain that the dividend is being computed in Washington according to a carefully planned and accurate system, and they may be confident that the check they will receive early next year will represent the full amount due them.

Margaret Webster

Shakespeare Here For Double Header

St. Michael's College will again present the internationally famous Margaret Webster Shakespearean Company on Saturday, Oct. 29, in Burlington Memorial Auditorium.

Rev. Edward Tining SSE, said that the Knights and Knaves dramatic club of which he is moderator, had completed arrangements to offer the outstanding troupe in " Julius Caesar" and " Taming of the Shrew."

Last year St. Michael's brought the Webster Company to Burlington in " Hamlet" and " Macbeth" and the success of these plays coupled with the increasing importance of the College as a drama center has enabled the Shakespearean group to again be sponsored this year. These productions will mark the fifth presentation of the Bard's works here at St. Michael's in three years. Besides the Webster offerings, " Othello" was given by the Boston Tributary Theatre in 1947.

IN AUDITORIUM

Because of the anticipated demand for tickets the Burlington Auditorium has been selected rather than the College Playhouse. The larger auditorium will also enable more people to see the play at lower cost. " Julius Caesar" will be given at 2:30 and " The Taming of the Shrew" at 8:30.

Miss Webster the daughter of the distinguished acting pair, Ben Greet and Dame May Whitty, ranks with the top actresses and directors of the day.

Her traveling company last year offering the Bard before College and University groups performed 211 times before audiences totaling 180,000 and was so successful that Reader's Digest acclaimed her for reawakening the richest heritage of English culture in the American theatre.

Tickets for " Julius Caesar" and " Taming of the Shrew" will soon be handled by the College bookstore, UVM bookstore and members of the Knights and Knaves.

Sophs. Nominate VP At Class Meeting

Sophomores were nominated last Tuesday night for the office of vice-president of their class. At the same meeting a committee was named to work on the dance which the class of '52 is staging Oct. 11.

The vacancy in the office of vice-president was left when Warren Hockenos entered the priesthood during the summer. Hockenos was elected to the office in the general elections last May.

The candidates for vice-president include: Dick Callahan, Jim Fitzsimmons, Alphone Costellano, Dick Gleason, and Howard Lancour.

The dance committee will be made up of: Dance Chairman - Marty Donahue; Hayride - Bill Kenney; Publicity - Al Fondicaro, Dick Callahan; Tickets - Tom Shields; Decorations - Doug O'Neil; Concessions - Bill Timbers; Band - Bob Sullivan.

Community Concerts

Community Concerts is offering local college students a chance to subscribe for the four concerts in Burlington this year for only $3. The series will include one symphony concert with the Indianapolis orchestra under Fabien Sevitzky as the main attraction.

Tickets may be obtained from Dr. Durick in College Hall or from Mr. Donoghue at the Public Relations office in Old Hall. Tim Murphy is heading student participation in the drive. The $3 rate is available only for students.

Fr. Lyons Endorses Vt. Forums' Drive

The Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, president of St. Michael's College has endorsed the opening of the Vermont Forum membership drive for the 1949-50 season on the college campus. Tickets at $1.75 can be obtained at the bookstore.

Prof. Edward Murphy of the English Department will again head the drive for St. Michael's, assisted by Student Chairman Jack Burke. They will be aided by a student working committee consisting of Frank Regan, Edward Kosicki, Lawrence LaFountain, Donald Powers, Robert Gelinas and John Dursi.

RADIO WORKSHOP

Students interested in radio work have a chance to investigate this field and to gain credit at the same time in the Radio Workshop course which is being offered under Milton Slater, program director WCAX local CBS station.

The Radio Workshop is a practical approach to broadcasting and allied fields. The course emphasizes the " learn by doing" technique supplemented by the latest background information regarding the industry and art in order to prepare the student with a first hand acquaintance with radio. Registration for this course is still possible.

Lectures cover the history of the four major networks, analysis of program types, writing and acting for radio, radio continuity (advertising copy), future horizons in television, FM and educational radio. Radio sales as a vocation is another important aspect.

Class work consists of the production and performance of programs including dramas, interviews and music. The disk jockey, a popular and contemporary phenomenon, will also be taken into account with students actually trying their hand at on-the-air and tape recorded programs.

The first meeting of the Workshop course will be Monday at 7:30 at WCAX.

CAMELS ARE COMING

A representative of the Camel Cigarette Company will be found in the Campus room sometime within the next two weeks offering one free pack of Camels with every 2 packs sold.

Lenten Sundays.

Under the new plan regular Sunday collections will be made at all four Masses in the student's chapel. No special amount is requested but all are urged to give at least the equivalent of what they would give if they attended a local church. A weekly report of the amount collected will be published so that all may know the progress being made towards the goal
